Scott Moore Takes Peoria Job

Will he play in Peoria? That familiar saying now applies to Assistant City Manager Scott Moore, who recently resigned to accept the City Manager position in Peoria, Ill. Moore will remain with the City through the week of Sept. 15. He plans to begin work in Peoria the week of Sept. 28 where he will lead approximately 800 employees. He will be missed by many who appreciated his warm smile, calm demeanor and personable leadership style.

"I feel I am leaving a part of me with the City of Wichita and will forever be grateful for this opportunity," Moore said. "I worked with a great management team that allowed me to make meaningful contributions to the community."

Moore has worked as Assistant City Manager of Operations since 2005. During that time, he served as interim City Manager from July of 2008 until February of 2009. Prior to coming to Wichita, the Bastrop, Texas native spent eight years as City Administrator in Ellsworth.

Q & A With Ray Thomas

Ray Thomas is a System Analyst with the Information Technology Department. But to most employees, he's better known as "the Phone Guy."

Thomas has been a model railroader even longer, learning the hobby at age 8 with his father. He has a train room in his basement, which includes sound, lighting, landscaping and scenery.

Q Everybody usually just calls you "the Phone Guy." What do you do?

Everything related to phones. With help from Sean Seamster, I deal with vendor bids for equipment and lines and negotiate contracts. I also handle repairs, moves, changes, wiring and systems for new and remodeled facilities, voicemail, phone book listings, monthly departmental and vendor billing, upgrades, and end user support and training. Additionally, I analyze and forecast traffic patterns and work with all departments regarding planning and telephone issues. We have around 1900 telephones in more than 130 locations, 450 voicemail boxes, 340 automatic call distribution agents, and 150 pagers. I am on call 24/7 and have gotten calls at some pretty odd hours.

Q What technology changes have occurred in recent years that affect phone service?

The first private line I ever worked with was transmitting at 2400 bits per second. Now we regularly order lines which transmit at over 1.5 million bits per second. Along with speed increases, we have much more sophisticated phone systems, such as Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP), which integrates voice/data over the same networks. These systems reduce costs, are more reliable and offer more features and functions than ever thought possible.

Q What are some "do's and don'ts" about city phone usage that you would tell city employees?

Do remember that you can call almost every City location (except the Airport) by just dialing the last four digits of the number. Don't be hesitant to call if you need help with the phones.

Q Texting, Twitter and internet phone service are all new features of mobile phone service. Will they ever become part of the City's phone service?

We already have internet telephones (VoIP) at the four police patrol stations, Cowtown, Indian Center and the new Animal Shelter. I am sure this service will expand to other locations in the coming years. Texting/Twitter services are out of my area of expertise, because if it doesn't have a dial tone, I don't understand.

Q If you could attend a historical event, which event would you attend and what would you be doing?

I would be in Boston, March 10, 1876, when the first words were spoken over a telephone wire from Alexander Graham Bell to his assistant, Thomas Watson. I would ask Mr. Bell to, "Please hold."

His career started in the business office with Northwestern Bell Telephone in South Dakota. He later joined AT&T in Los Angeles, and moved on to serve as telecommunications manager for a Southern California bank. Thomas' résumé covers billing, sales, design, installation, repair, budgets, network engineering, and corporate security. After 20 years in Los Angeles, he moved to Tampa and worked closely with law enforcement on the federal and state level. He has worked with small and very large businesses, including Hewlett Packard, Merck Pharmaceuticals, Caterpillar, Microsoft, Dell, Ford and McDonalds. He was a civilian instructor at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center in Glencoe, Ga., training federal agents on telephone fraud.

He found a home with the City of Wichita IT Department four and half years ago.

Thomas has been an avid motorcyclist for more than 40 years and is a political activist on motorcycle issues. He has lobbied state capitols in four states as well as Washington, D.C. The longest ride he ever took was from Los Angeles to Washington, D.C., in 2002 as part of the Run for the Wall, honoring veterans on Memorial Day.

Wichita: "Playful City USA"

It's official: Wichita is a great place to visit, live and PLAY. Wichita was one of 94 communities across the nation honored as a "Playful City USA." The recognition was awarded by KaBOOM!, a national non-profit which promotes a great place to play within walking distance of every child in America. In its third year, KaBOOM! selected Wichita for its dedication and commitment to outdoor play. Wichita is the first Kansas community to earn the recognition.

"This is a great honor and it shows Wichita is doing what it takes to keep our youth engaged in fun and healthy activities," Wichita City Council Member Lavonta Williams said. "After watching other communities receive this award at the National League of Cities two years ago, I knew Wichita had what it took to become a playful city."

Closed Captioning Added to Council Telecasts

Help is on the way for citizens who have difficulty hearing the audio of weekly telecasts of Wichita City Council meetings.

Beginning with the Aug. 4 meeting, closed captioning was added to the City7 cable telecast of regular Council meetings conducted in the City Council chambers of City Hall. City7 is the Cox Communication's cable Channel 7 assigned to the City of Wichita.

The new service is a welcome addition for the community's hearing-impaired population, according to Ron Starks, president of the Wichita Association of the Deaf.

"Closed captioning will help people who are deaf or hard of hearing to understand what the City Council talks about in their meetings," Starks said. "Deaf people who watch a Council meeting will now be able to read the captions and better understand the Council's actions."

Earlier this summer, the City Council approved a contract with Caption Colorado to provide captioning services for regular City Council meetings at a rate of $90 an hour.

The new service reflects the City Council's dedication to transparency in local government, according to Mayor Carl Brewer. "The Wichita City Council is firmly committed to citizen involvement in local government," the Mayor said. "Closed captioning of telecasts of regular City Council meetings will make it easier for the hearing-impaired community to monitor our actions."

Komen Race for the Cure—Nancy G. Brinker promised her dying sister, Susan G. Komen, she would do everything in her power to end breast cancer forever. In 1982, that promise became Susan G. Komen for the Cure and a global breast cancer movement was launched. Today, Komen for the Cure is the world's largest grassroots network of breast cancer survivors and activists fighting to save lives, empower people, ensure quality care for all and energize science to find the cures. Thanks to events like the Komen Race for the Cure, nearly $1 billion has been invested to fulfill that promise, becoming the largest source of nonprofit funds dedicated to the fight against breast cancer in the world. The Race for the Cure will be held from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 26, at Town East Square. To register or for more information, contact the Mid-Kansas Affiliate at 683-8510 or cosbourn@komenmidks.org.

A new service initiative was recently released by President Obama. The initiative called, United We Serve, kicked off in June and will last through September 11. Library Has Outstanding Summer

Nearly 350 attendees came to the Central Library's Summer Reading Kick-off Party.

June was a busy month for volunteers and staff at the Wichita Public Library. Seven branch libraries set all-time monthly circulation records during the month of June. Circulation of library materials for the month of June surpassed the same period of 2008 by 24%. Library card registrations are also growing, up 15% from the same time period last year.

Registration for the Summer Reading Club and Teens Read programs also broke records. On June 1, more than 2,000 children and teens visited Wichita Public Library locations to register for both programs. At the end of June, the Summer Reading Program registration had increased by 690 children (up 8% from last year.) Increases in the teen reading program were even more impressive, gaining 29% from the previous year. The Library's goal to reach 10,000 youth was easily reached as more than 11,600 children and teens registered this hectic summer.

Special Projects Librarian Wins National Award

Jennifer Heinicke, Special Projects Librarian, won national recognition for The Big Read's media campaign she headed last year. The campaign won first place in the 2009 Kansas Professional Communicators Contest, then advanced to national competition with the National Federation of Press Women (NFPW) where it placed second. The 2009 Big Read will feature "Great Tales and Poems of Edgar Allan Poe," runs October-November and features media partners such as the Wichita Eagle and Clear Channel Outdoor.

Public Works 'Christmas' In July Food Drive

Public Works employees collected food and money in July to benefit the Kansas Food Bank. Because it was an extension of the department's holiday efforts, the operation was named Christmas in July, with snow cones provided as an incentive for employees to bring donations to the Central Maintenance Facility on July 22. Public Works employees at City Hall suggested extending the offer to City Hall employees, which was very well received.

Donations from Public Works employees and snow-cone 'sales' at the CMF netted about $275 and 200 food items; another $280 and 175 food items were collected at City Hall. The final combined tally was $553.13 and 374 food items. A big thank-you goes to Leslie Hicks, Public Works Utility and Right of Way Coordinator, who got the snowball rolling by donating the snow-cone machine and supplies for the events.

CDO Promotes Future Workforce

Heidi Cleveland, Employment Specialist with the Career Development Office (CDO), was recently approached to serve as a career mentor for Shelby, an eighth grade student at Derby Middle School who was interested in the social services field. She shadowed Heidi for a day and observed CDO operations. The student was able to witness "behind the scenes" preparation for life-skills sessions and was impressed with the level of time management skills and professionalism that Employment Specialists put forth to serve customers.

Heidi was also asked to speak on Career Day at Swaney Elementary School. Children in grades 3-5 researched careers of interest and invited professionals to share their experience in hopes of deciding what career they would like to get into "when they grow up." Students enjoyed the pens, pencils and notepads given during the presentation. Several students responded with thank-you notes.

City Employees Making a Difference

Public Works employees dispose of trash in Planeview area.

An unsightly mess that had been illegally left on City property in Planeview was eradicated this month, thanks to Public Works and the Wichita Police Department (WPD). Two dump trucks and a large trailer, all full of trash, were abandoned on City property, creating a difficult clean-up problem.

WPD was able to get one of its contracted towing companies to take the dump trucks, despite the fact they were both full of stinky trash. A couple of weeks later, Public Works was able to make arrangements to dispose of the trailer, its contents and all the bulky waste and scattered debris around it.

Great work by City employees who are making a visible difference in neighborhoods!

A Tennis Pro Helps PACK Kids

Council Member Sue Schlapp took time out of her busy schedule in July to give tennis tips to the children at the Planeview Activity Camp for Kids (PACK). Schlapp is a member of the Board of Directors at the Maureen Connolly Brinker Tennis Foundation.

The Foundation has donated time and money to the Planeview Activity Camp for Kids since 2004. Volunteers come out twice a week to teach children in grades kindergarten through 8th grade the fundamentals of tennis and teamwork which is always popular among the campers. Staff also enjoy seeing the children grow through the experience every year.

Protecting and Restoring Water

The City of Wichita Environmental Services Department is launching a new project aimed at improving the water quality of the Arkansas River and its tributaries that flow through the city.

The Wichita Watershed Restoration and Protection Strategy (WRAPS) will help identify water quality priorities and actions. The initiative is funded by a $50,000 grant from the Kansas Department of Health and Environment (KDHE) as part of its Kansas Watershed Restoration and Protection Strategy. KDHE has assigned a high priority for restoration of the river basin in the Wichita area. Wichita WRAPS will focus on restoring the Lower Arkansas River Basin watershed.

"We've known for a long time that the Lower Arkansas River Basin does not meet surface water quality standards and have taken actions for improvements", said Kay Johnson, Environmental Services Director. "However, this grant permits us to engage citizens in determining the interests and needs of the community for watershed protection. We'd also like to find partners to help implement water quality improvement actions."

The project will begin with a developmental phase to identify community interest, followed by three additional phases of assessment, planning and implementation.

The City will use the grant funds to retain Geotechnical Services, Inc., (GSI) to gather citizen input and hold informational community meetings. The project also includes launching a website for posting local Arkansas River water quality information and a citizen online survey.

For more information about Wichita WRAPS or upcoming community meetings, visit www.wichitawraps.org or e-mail info@wichitawraps.org.

Citizen’s Fire Academy

Members of the first Citizen’s Fire Academy.

The Wichita Fire Department recently held its first Citizen’s Fire Academy graduation in the Council Chambers. Ten citizens received certificates from Mayor Carl Brewer and Fire Chief Ronald D. Blackwell.

The graduates went through an 11-week course designed to give participants an understanding of the Fire Department’s fire and emergency medical operations and to promote citizen interaction with firefighters.

The graduates also received “hands on” training involving search and rescue, high angle technical rescue, fire extinguisher training and other exercises to help them become more aware of the dangers of fire fighting and the benefits of fire prevention.

The Fire Department congratulates these outstanding citizens for taking an interest in their fire department.

HR Receives 2009 Best Practices Award

The mediation program in the Human Resources Department has won the 2009 IPMA-HR Kansas “Best Practices” Award.

Susan Leiker

The Employee Relationship Improvement Program was developed by Susan Leiker.

“I am certainly proud of the recognition, and extremely grateful to the City of Wichita Team of Mediators that makes the program successful”, said Leiker.

Since its inception in 2007, the program has received 17 requests for mediation. Of those 17 requests, 12 mediations have been held. Of the 12, 75% or nine of them resulted in successful mediation agreements.

The Human Resources Department submitted five nominations for “Best Practices” in Human Resources for consideration in an annual awards program hosted by the Kansas Chapter of IPMA-HR (International Public Management Association-Human Resources).

Having unresolved conflict at work? Try mediation. It works.

Batter Up, with a Helping Hand

Children with physical challenges enjoyed the thrill of baseball this summer, thanks to a program offered by the Park and Recreation Department Recreation Division.

The Division worked with volunteer Lanie Armstrong, a school psychologist, to provide children ages 5 to 18 an opportunity to play baseball as a team member in an organized league. Armstrong worked with the school district and area organizations to recruit players. The Park Department provided a field at Westside Athletic Field, staff and adaptive equipment for the league.

The league began on May 23 with a skills assessment for players and training for “Buddies.” Each player was assigned a Buddy to assist them. Players were placed on four teams based on abilities. The games were played every Saturday morning in June. Special guest commentators were recruited each week to announce players and provide play-by-play for each game. Games were well attended by parents, grandparents, friends and neighbors. The last game of the season brought almost 500 fans out to watch the amazing athletes take the field.

All who witnessed the Miracle League saw baseball being played in its purest form, just for the sheer joy of playing.
